HMC INTERACTIVE

ENGAGING INTERACTIVE MULTIMEDIA

HMC Interactive is an award winning software development company that creates dazzling interactive multimedia products for a wide range of industries from education to entertainment and beyond.

We work for creative agencies delivering high quality digital media for public or private spaces. We create innovative bespoke services working alongside multimedia companies to deliver experiences worldwide.

Lashings of imagination

Our state-of-the-art programming tools combine with liberal helpings of creativity to deliver tailor-made solutions. We deliver everything from cutting-edge websites to interactive exhibits for national museums and tourist attractions, where strong competition means a constant requirement for innovative content.

We take pride in our work and specialise in finding vibrant new uses for existing technology, helping our clients to stand out above their competition.

Based in Plymouth, UK, our team has the creativity, programming power and ability to provide not only amazing interfaces but also robust back-end coding ensuring seamless integration throughout our projects. We manage assignments from design and development to build and delivery.

Passion and enthusiasm

Our passion and enthusiasm has established HMC Interactive as an emerging force in the UK multimedia sector. We pride ourselves on bringing the extraordinary to life through our friendly and inventive approach.

Recent projects include two centrepiece interactive exhibits for Swansea's highly acclaimed new National Waterfront Museum. We created both The Power of Money and The Power of Communities displays in the museum which has been short-listed for the Gulbenkian Prize - the largest single arts award in the UK. We have also recently created a digital butterfly garden where radiant digital creatures land on human hands. But that's another story...
